U. S. WARSHIP SHELLS CHINESE LAND FORCES

HEAVY FIRE OF CHINESE GUNS IS SILENCED BY U. S. SHRAPNEL

Nationalist Response To Joint Note Is Held To Be Indication of Crisis

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 15.—A new Chinese crisis was precipitated today as the Cantonese formally refused to make the amends demanded for the Nanking outrage and American warships were forced into action against the North China forces near Nanking.

As a result of one or both of these developments, Admiral Clarence S. Williams, commander in chief of American naval forces in China, rushed more warships to the danger zone.

The reply of Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the Cantonese or Nationalist government, was delivered at Hankow today, while it was extremely conciliatory it failed to imply an apology or willingness to pay reparations for the Nanking anti-foreign rioting.

Chen refused to accept responsibility on the part of his troops and suggested that a commission be appointed to fix responsibility. Chen's note has been received by the state department and delivered to the president. It was announced at the White House.

Officials refused to comment, preferring to wait until views can be exchanged with the other power. (Continued on Page 5)

New Cruisers Represent Balance of 8 For The Naval Program of 1924

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 15.—Contracts for the construction of six light cruisers of 10,000 tons each were awarded by the navy department today.

Two of the cruisers will be constructed by the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dock Co., at Newport News, Va., for $20,480,000 each.

Contracts for one each were awarded to the Mare Island Navy Yard, Cal., the Puget Sound Navy Yard, Wash., the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co., at Quincy, Mass., and the American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation, of Camden, New Jersey. The Bethlehem corporation bid $10,675,000 and the New Jersey company $10,815,000. The navy yards merely submit estimates.

These vessels represent the balance of the program of eight cruisers authorized by congress in 1924. The other two cruisers are now under construction, the Pensacola at the Brooklyn Navy yard and the Sale Lake City at the William Cramp and Sons company at Philadelphia.

McAdoo Takes Peep At The White House

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 15.—William Gibbs McAdoo took a long walk in Washington today. Emerging from an office building at Seventeenth and H streets, the son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson and aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination walked briskly to Lafayette square—across from the White House. ### Bandits Rob Store Two Times In Seven Days; Unarmed, Unmasked

PORTLAND, April 15.—Snatching a money bag containing $17,000 in cash and a number of checks, from the hands of Joe Bigelow, a United States National bank messenger, three men held up a crowd at the point of revolvers, while a fourth started the stalled engine of their car. The gang, escaped. The robbery occurred at the entrance to the Olds, Wortman King store, which was robbed of $19,000 Sunday night by a gang of safe robbers, Captain George H. Bailey of the bank, was accompanying the messenger to carry the cash from the store to the bank, and was held up by one of the men with a revolver while the cash was taken from the boy.

As the messengers emerged from the store, a small touring car bearing the license No. 177-567 Oregon, was backing to the curb. A man leaped out and thrust a gun at Bailey while two companions leaped out and seized the money bag. The man with the gun started to search Bailey, but when the latter told him he had nothing the man jumped back into the car. The engine stalled.

While one man was cranking it, the others smashed out the glass in the back of the car and thrust their revolvers out, ordering the crowd to stand back. As soon as the engine started the men leaped in and drove away.

All of the men were armed, but none were masked.

CITY SUPPORT TO BE SOUGHT FOR BOY SCOUTS

With the meeting of a special Boy Scout committee composed of representative men of Richmond, last night, action was definitely taken to enlist community and city support for the furtherance of Boy Scout work and aims. Fostered by the local Lions club for a number of years, the growth of Scout work has become so great that united cooperation is held a prime requisite to care for the development of the movement.

Claude B. Clark, of Richmond, has been appointed by T. H. Swift, president of the county council of Boy Scouts, as chairman for the Richmond district. The special committee last night approved the appointment and laid plans for a city campaign.

E. A. Hoffman suggested that a special meeting be called at which chairmen, presidents, or representatives from all social, service, factory, civic, labor, religious and political organizations be invited to attend.

The special committee, acting on the movement, set next Wednesday, April 20, as the date on which such a session should be held. Letters will be sent to organizations asking their wholehearted support in the campaign. Representatives will be asked to meet in Scout Hall at 7 p. m. on that date to consider means to further city interest in a movement which concerns itself with the building of young men of true American ideals.

12 1-2 CENTS A GALLON NEW "GAS" PRICE

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The price of gasoline took another downward plunge today when the Pan American Petroleum company, a Doheny concern, announced a rate of 12 1/2 cents per gallon. This is the second time within two weeks that this concern has slashed the cost of the fuel which was selling at 13 1/2 cents a gallon last month. Officials of other state companies were apparently surprised by this newest slash and were undecided whether to follow suit. However, when the Doheny cut the price to 14 1/2 cents recently the other big companies promptly followed its lead.

Huge Crowds Throng 'Nat' As Swimming Season Opens

The Richmond Municipal Natatorium was the mecca of hundreds of Eastbay swimmers yesterday afternoon and last night, when the pool opened for its second year. From 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when the milling, jostling horde of school children was first admitted, until closing time at 10 p. m., the pool was generously filled with swim lovers out for their first plunge of the season in the mammoth tank.

Judging from the gratifying attendance during the first day, a day of such chilling wind and overcast skies tending to discourage swimmers—it seems quite likely that last year's attendance record will be broken. During the first year 110,000 persons paid $42,000 for the swimming privileges.

It would be putting it mildly to say that the renovations and improvements just completed on the tank met with the approval of the bathers. The new concrete stairs, ventilation system and other improvements put the tank in even better shape than when it was first opened last year.

City Manager James A. McVittie announced last night that the natatorium will operate on the same schedule this year as last. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays the doors will open at 10 a. m., closing at 10 p. m. During the remainder of the time the pool will be open from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m.

CAR SET AFIRE BY POWER WIRE AFTER SMASHUP

Three persons narrowly escaped death last evening when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into an electric light pole on Garfield boulevard near the municipal tunnel, throwing a high tension wire across the machine.

They were: Albert Olsen, Standard Oil employee, residing at 555 Tenth street.

His wife, Mrs. Isabelle Olsen, and small son, Robert.

Mrs. Olsen, thrown through the windshield of the machine—a Chrysler touring car, was taken to the emergency hospital, where she was treated for bruises on the head.

The accident occurred when the party was returning from the San Francisco ferry slips shortly before 8 o'clock. Just before reaching the south end of the municipal tunnel, Olsen lost control of the car, which jumped the curb and crashed into the electric light pole.

One of the high tension wires was dislodged from the top of the pole, falling across the automobile and sending up a flare of light that could be seen for miles around.

Fortunately, the three occupants of the machine were not struck by the 10,000 volt-wire. Mrs. Olsen alone suffering injuries as a result of the accident. She was taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital by Lee Bradson, local traffic officer, who drove by shortly after the crash.

Residents of the southern slope of the Point Richmond hills, perceiving the flare of light on the boulevard below, thought that the machine was on fire and sent in still alarms.

Engine No. 1 of Point Richmond responded to the calls but found that the automobile had not been ignited by the high tension wire.

The machine suffered little damage.

FORD AHEAD IN FARMING THEORIES

Henry Ford's views on farming are not so revolutionary as some persons might think. Others have been saying much the same thing, but they did not command so much attention. Because they were scientists, experimenters and the like many of their opinions were set down as visionary. What Ford predicts is an era when machinery will do the work now done by hand or by some use for much that now is regarded as waste. Nearly every month some scientist who has been delving into the mysteries of nature announces something new and within a few years whatever he has discovered is accepted as a matter of course. Ford speaks in a large way of what is possible, but what he says concerns the future. What the farmer has been asking is immediate relief. The chemists and others will go on finding new things from time to time, making it possible to use materials that now are thrown away, lightening farm work and leaving more time for cultural improvement. Some day practical farming may catch up with Ford's theories—Indianapolis Star.

It is announced that in a test of strength in a Michigan county Governor Al Smith's friends won out over the anti-Smith democrats. However, these off-year tests of strength are a good deal like the spring practice games that the ball teams put on in the South.

According to a New York headline "Gold is extracted from the Air in Wall Street." It must be said by way of explanation however that this is done by assayers and not by those who are speculating on margin.

Massachusetts democrats are seeking the democratic national convention of 1928 in Boston. And if it turns out like the one in 1924 they may have to send for ex-Governor Coolidge to stop the rioting.

Monarchists in Germany are asking that the Ex-Kaiser be permitted to return to Germany as a private citizen. This might be all right if there were any assurance that he would remain private.

We asked our laundryman what he thought of the Chinese situation and he said: "Yes, thank you."

Excavators two thousand years hence, digging into American cities will probably come across a lot of queer things in the cellars.

Men Who Made the World

KING RICHARD I.

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

BY THE TERMS OF THE TRUCE, ALL PERSONS, WHETHER SOLDIERS OR PILGRIMS, WERE ALLOWED TO HAVE FREE ACCESS TO JERUSALEM UNDER SALADIN'S PROTECTION. THE CRUSADERS WERE TO RETAIN THE GREAT CITIES OF JAFFA, TYRE AND ACRE, AND THE COUNTRY IN BETWEEN AND ADJOINING. EACH PARTY AGREED TO REMAIN OUTSIDE THE TERRITORY OF THE OTHER AND COMMIT NO ACTS OF WAR.

WHEN THE NEWS OF THE TRUCE REACHED THE ARMY THERE WAS WILD REJOICING. ALL WERE EAGER TO VISIT THE HOLY CITY. OF COURSE, ALL COULD NOT GO AT ONCE, SO THE CRUSADERS WERE DIVIDED INTO THREE PARTIES, AND PROCEEDED ONE AFTER THE OTHER TO VISIT THE CITY OF THEIR DREAMS.

HOW TO GET ALONG WITH MIGRAINE

Percival Pounds never wore a pair of red suspenders and yet he was the best bass drummer they ever had in the Upper Jay German society band, and just even if you or I begin life with a handicap of neurotic heredity or taint which predisposes us to migraine (migrain, hemicrania, periodic sick headaches), we may ameliorate or improve our condition by individual effort and something more than the ordinary care about right living.

For instance, one common though erratic notion about migraine is that the attack is brought on by "biliousness." Indeed, a popular name for the attack is "bilious headache," a fancy which probably grows out of the fact that in most cases the vomiting attending the attack brings up some bile stained fluid after the stomach has been emptied by repeated retching. This appearance of bile, however, is a perfectly normal sequence of prolonged retching or repeated vomiting from any cause whatever, and it rather indicates that the liver and bile apparatus are functioning normally. But the students of migraine, while recognizing that the vomiting is an effect or a feature of the headache rather than a cause, do not gainsay the fact that most cases of so called "biliousness" spell overeating and a simple rebellion of nature. It is both wisdom and discretion, therefore, for the victim of migraine to avoid overindulgence in food or condiments, since the frequency and severity of the seizures in migraine vary inversely with the physical condition or fitness of the individual. A migraine subject is most likely to have one of the attacks when over-eat or over-exhausted by the trials and vexations of life.

One-third of all cases of migraine begin in childhood, nine-tenths of all cases are established by the age of 35 years. Only rarely does the trouble develop after 30. Females are slightly more often affected than males, but there is no chance for an argument here, save to say that we males have a way of shifting burdens to the weaker sex. A striking fact is that the onset of migraine often dates from a period of illness or lowered health—and I believe in most instances such illness or lowered health is as much the individual's own fault as it is the fault of heredity, environment or the ignorance or callousness of the community in regard to sanitation.

Uncorrected eyestrain or eyestrain inaccurately fitted with glasses may invite attacks in a person who is subject to migraine but eyestrain is positively not a cause of this neurosis. The migrainous sufferer should be very particular to have his eyestrain properly corrected—accurate measurements may be made only when the accommodation is placed at rest by "drops" in a person under middle age—but the best the sufferer can expect from correction of eyestrain is lengthening of the intervals between seizures; it is seldom that migraine is so slight a taint that it may be wiped out altogether by the relief of this eyestrain. The sensible view of this factor is that the migrainous subject should be a little more particular about the correction of eyestrain than ordinary folk need be, just as he must be a little more careful about avoiding excesses in eating than ordinary folk have to be.

The same policy holds true as regards the avoidance of constipation. No excuse for anybody to get the constipation or the physical habit unless there is some actual organic disease or defect of the alimentary system. The migrainous patient must be especially careful to avoid this depraved habit.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The World Do Move

Is the press copy of a radio talk given by the New York state health department, I find this remarkable remark:

"In other words, colds should be considered contagious, and the same sort of care taken as with epidemic diseases."

The New York state health department, however, very wisely refrains from telling the people what a "common cold" is. There is a saying that what you don't know need never worry you.

The Old Spring Song

Is sulphur injurious when taken internally to purify the blood? How much should be used, and how much molasses?

Answer—No, it is harmless, having no other effect than that of a mild purgative. It doesn't purify the blood. Take as much molasses as you may like to cover the taste of the sulphur. I think grandma used to mix the sulphur and molasses about pound for pint.

Chapped Hands

Will you please give a lotion for chapped hands?

Mrs. M.S.C.

Answer—Boil in a pint of water 80 grains of tragacanth chips or shavings (not powder) and half an ounce of glycerin and a half ounce of boric acid, stirring repeatedly, till a clear thin jelly is obtained. Add water to make up for evaporation. Apply a few drops to the hands three or four times a day. Men find this lotion soothing for the face after shaving.

Droopy Gaze

I am 58 years old and have had droopy for a number of years. The water has gone away. Is there any certain kind of food that will bring on the droopy again?

Mrs. B.C.J.

Answer—No. The only general suggestion I can give you is that it is well to avoid very salty foods or the use of much salt, and if you are at all stout you should take sugar and sweetened articles only sparingly.

Is Gargling Worth While?

When tonsils are infected or diseased and a cheesy deposit is noticeable in the crypts, will not the use of a good gargle dislodge these masses and help to bring the tonsils back to normal?

W.M.K.

Answer—I do not think so, but there is no harm in trying gargling for a while.

FREEMONT—Plans being made for erection of bridge across the Sacramento river below Freemont.

STOCKTON—New central fire alarm station to be erected in this city.

YOUTH IS A BACK NUMBER

Yes, I've said it, and I'll stick by it. Perhaps some of my youthful readers who have liked my style will send me a nice big basket of over-matured fruit or skipless lemons.

I say that youth is a back number because it is afraid to do anything on its own hook. In a crowd it imitates the worst qualities of grown-ups and as individuals in this youth group they imitate each other.

How independent each of them thinks. One would think they were going to overturn the universe. The mountain of independence is built and brings forth a mouse. All youth dresses alike, looks alike, talks alike, paints alike, and by George, thinks alike!

There isn't a nation on God's footstool that has keener or more energetic youth. I admire the way you young people organize your school papers, your clubs, your athletics and your talk. But the last is all talk—nothing more.

Why not be truly independent? Why not revolt? I'll carry the banner if you don't outrun me.

Let's fight against corruption, against ignorance and want of character in public men, against laws that have outlived their time and their usefulness, against stupid methods in administration, and against every lurking form of injustice in the social order.

Hurray! Let's have self-expression. Instead of taking our lowest instincts and giving them gangway, let's take our better ones and give them a change to revolutionize the world in which we live.

Our biggest enemy is racial prejudice. Let's knock it out flat. Another enemy is miserable provincialism. Let's prove our own brotherhood wisdom. And other enemy is poverty. Another is disease. Another is dense, stupid ignorance. Come on—let's have our fling at these things.

An English lecturer who has been spending some time studying American student life asked this question: "What a fine thing it would be if the rebellious and reforming American students could be directed less to private grievances and more to public restrictions and wrongs which cry out for redress."

Let's revolt, but let's have our revolt so fine things deeper than the question of chaperons, bare legs, brawley hair, and garish stockings.

Let's start a revolution. Each of us to do our own thinking, to dress as becomes each of us; to think independently of a crowd; to find a line of conversation which does not give the impression that it was all made in one place by a machine. In short let's have liberty. Let's start by liberating our individual personalities. I'll be the young member of this new movement.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Dear Would-Be Art Student—I read with interest your letter about the question: "Art School or Correspondence Institution?"

I have tried both methods. I have taken correspondence courses in art and have attended an art school. From experience I find that one could never get from a correspondence course the true atmosphere and knowledge that one gets at an art school.

Just now I'm working at this college as scientific illustrator.

I wish that you would write to me about your drawing. I'm very much interested in all forms of art and I'd like to help you all.

I was on a high chair cleaning my mantry and all morning it seemed that the door bell or telephone kept ringing. When the door bell rang again I asked my boy to go to the door, with instructions to tell the person who was ringing that mother was "broken."

He opened the door to see a man standing with apples in his hand. "None," said my boy. "my mother's all broke out."

The Marriage Game

As Played to a Decision

Every Day By

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutton

"I LOVE YOU"

Her play—Why is it that "I Love You" falls so glibly from the tongue of every man in Christendom? Oh, don't try to say it isn't so. Because you know it is so. A man finds himself without anything to do tonight, and so he goes and hunts up some nice girl he knows, and before the second reel starts to unwind, he is telling her that he loves her devotedly, madly, wildly, insanely. Why do men do that? Why? ... Why?

His counterplay—Why? You ask why? ... because the girl expects it. Take a girl out three nights running and if a man doesn't whisper that old stuff "I love you," into her shell-like ear, she has a private suspicion that he was born dumb. I don't say that every girl believes it. I only asseverate and insist with all the passion of my being that she wants to hear him say it, anyway. And the girl who likes it best, is that fair creature who tells every fellow she meets that she just wants to be a good little pal, that's all. You should ask me a question like that.

The referee—We have a secret surprise that he has today's prize taken.

Dance, Dance, Dance. Shuffle, and slip, swirl and whirl, bend and slide—slide, slide! Light heads, and light feet. Lighter heads, as the momentary waltz. Bobbing balloons in a syncopeing maze. Music. Discard—yet, strangely rhythmic; unharmonious—yet strangely tuneful. Crash, tinkle, whine, whine. Faster—faster—faster! In the maddest preparation; in the maddest preparation; in the maddest preparation. Passion's paradise. The dance!

Through all the madness Bob Vanderweerd, she's smiling for you. And Arch, Mrs. Ledy told me she wanted to dance with him. Mazie Revere has shaken her butter and egg man again in your favor for this dance. Bob. She's sure got a crush on you—and he's aching to run you, only you're too big. Run along now.

Then suddenly Mazie saw a chance to divert Bob's attention in another direction. It she could not win Bob's interest for herself, then as a loyal old friend and co-worker of Madame Leonine—with whom, indeed, she was in a sort of tacit partnership—she would sacrifice her own desires toward knowing Bob, the best bet the Palisado Inn had ever had, from waiting his obvious work and talents on a party of a little cigarette girl. Indeed she would! And here was the chance, conveniently at hand.

A chance—a darn good chance—in the person of a newcomer, a newcomer whose advent seemed to send an inquisitive, curious, half-suspicious thrill through the crowd, a chance—a chance—a chance!

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob, a young man, works his way through college, and with his friends, Freddy and Arch, he goes to work, money—working as a dancing partner of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit time to make a marriage, but, faced with rejection for unpaid rent, he finally goes to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever seen. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. He hears of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the inn, and quarrels with his change, who think Sally is a gold-digger, like the rest.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

As for Bob, much as he wanted to playfully mash the heads of his chums, Freddy and Arch, for their remarks, he managed to restrain himself and merely laugh ruefully to Madame Leonine.

Yes, that's it—I'm studying engineering in college. Learning about gold digging, and all that sort of thing.

The Madame, whose indignation at the near commotion caused by the quarrelling of the boys was allayed by the snug knowledge that in Bob she had struck a bonanza herself, indulgently permitted herself to be disarmed by the explanation. She even ventured a witty remark.

"I don't know much about what they teach you in college, or how they teach it—but you'll pick up here quicker than in any classroom a practical and first-hand knowledge of gold digging—as she is dug!"

So the atmosphere, the tension, were cleared again.

And so Madame Leonine, like a motherly old bureau, showed her baby hawks off to their foraging.

"There, Freddy—you go to Mrs. Hammond."

So the atmosphere, the tension, were cleared again.

shook to the waiters, the attendants. To the orchestra, even for the assemblage suddenly seemed to puff and spit more enthusiastically. The drummer pounded more vigorously, the others all anarchy, scraped and blew and whistled with greater gusto. The floor was crowded and frenzied himself more than usually.

All the pain had great, wide, covetous grins, the guests, admiring ones.

Madame Leonine's round, pink face was colored to a glow that combined the glow and the admiration, as she made a ritualistic show of greeting the newcomer and personally escorting her to the choicest table—tastefully reserved, just this visitation. The traveling nature hovered in the periphery, wake.

The dance, and the dancers, almost unconsciously slipped a measure.

It was Mazie, swinging into the dance again with Bob, who confirmed what Bob had guessed. She explained:

"That's Mrs. Hammond. She's famous around here. She's the best customer you get."

Mazie went on, in a rather awed voice, to whisper to Bob all the information that Freddy and Arch had previously told him. She said that Mrs. Hammond had a positively ravishing creature, in her early thirties. All the enormities that the boys had mouthed were true—and Mazie had never seen so fair and resplendent a woman—in whose nature's lavish attributes of beauty were multiplied by the breeding and slight taint of aristocratic blood.

A lady, too—of position, it was there—spiritually, in the depths of her heart, she was a noble, pathologically, in the sensitive nobility, in the full, cultivated sense of the word, she was a noble.

And lastly, in that sense of all manners of sensuality, a slight, very slight swelling where the ivory of her bosom metched into the velvet of her white throat; in other words, somewhat abnormal prominence of her thyroid gland.

Bob was finding Mrs. Hammond a fascinating feat for eye and mind. He had noticed it since the day again since the captivating newcomer had entered.

Mazie kept ahead of Bob, his astonishment.

"Stunning, isn't she?"

Bob nodded. She was all that. Continuing to watch covertly, of course, for even in a roadhouse Bob still bore carefully the responsibility to himself for his deportment as a gentleman.

Mrs. Hammond's eyes swept the room, after she had given a cursory order to the obsequious maids, who had personally gone to supplement its execution. The Madame was talking, confidentially, to Mazie.

Madame—was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond.

Vanderweerd: she's smiling for you. And Arch, Mrs. Ledy told me she wanted to dance with him. Mazie Revere has shaken her butter and egg man again in your favor for this dance. Bob. She's sure got a crush on you—and he's aching to run you, only you're too big. Run along now.

Mrs. Snyder Accuses Accomplice In Husband-Murder of Cowardice

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, April 15.—"Henry Judd Gray is a coward who is trying to hide behind my skirts," this was the wall today of Mrs. Ruth Snyder who will go to trial with Gray on Monday for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder.

At the same time Gray was yearning for death to end his troubles. To tell those who saw him today that he is "anxious" to have his trial and sentence over with as quickly as possible so that death will end his ordeal.

But Mrs. Snyder has no hopes or even ideas of paying the death penalty. In her cell today she wrote a pencilled statement which read in part:

"This is a message to my friends and to people who know me only as the woman whose name has been printed in the headlines of every newspaper since my husband met his death. My name is on everybody's tongue and undoubtedly there are hundreds who accuse me of helping Henry Judd Gray kill my husband. But I know there are hundreds who refuse to believe the awful things that have been said about me.

"They realize that because my name is being dragged in the mud and name of notoriety, it is not proof of my guilt. All I ask is that the public withhold judgment of me until the jury that will be chosen next week to pass judgment upon me returns its verdict. It has no fear of the outcome, because I know I am innocent.

"I know Judd Gray as well as any woman knows a man. I know him better now than I ever did before. I know that he is a coward, a low, cringing, sneaking jackal, the murderer of my husband, who is now trying to hide behind my skirts and is trying to drag me down into the stinking pit that he himself willingly wallowed in.

HEAVY FIRE OF CHINESE GUNS IS SILENCED BY U. S. SHRAPNEL

ers which joined the United States in making the demands. In general, it was believed that Chen's reply is unsatisfactory, but it was emphasized that the United States will not act precipitately.

Another factor entering into the situation is that information reaching the state department is to the effect that Chen's government is tottering to its fall. The northern forces are closing in on every side and are apparently victorious. The Nationalists also are fighting among themselves and are believed likely to disintegrate as a party.

The majestic sweep of the Cantonese north of the Yangtse on the way to Peking has been turned into a retreat that is almost a rout in several places. They have fallen back on the Yangtse and have been forced to cross to the southern side of the river.

Large units of the northern Chinese armies have reached the Yangtse and it was one of those which caused what may develop into a serious incident today.

Fire On S. O. Ship
A battery of northern troops opened fire on the Standard Oil company ship Mian, near Nanking. The U. S. S. John D. Ford returned the fire, whereupon the shore battery ceased firing upon the Mian and opened fire on the Ford. The commander was unable to silence the battery with his machine guns and brought his four-inch batteries into action and shelled the position until it was silenced. The Ford was somewhat battered, but there were no casualties on board. It is believed the casualties ashore were heavy. The British cruiser Emerald joined the Ford in the bombardment.

This is the first time the United States or any other foreign power have had any difficulty with the northern troops. In fact, they have been the conservative element relied upon to halt the march of the Cantonese on Shanghai and later on Peking.

Fear Northern Hatred

Officials fear the incident will change this feeling of co-operation between the northern troops and foreign forces into one of hatred and that drastic steps will have to be taken to protect the Americans concentrated at Peking, Tien-Tsin and Tsing-Tao in north China, controlled territory.

To meet the situation brought about at Hankow, Nationalist capital, where Eugene Chen is making his headquarters, Admiral Williams today dispatched the modern cruiser Cincinnati, and the destroyers Prebel and Noa, with the six American warships and upward of 30 warships of other nations already there, the force sufficient to meet any emergency, officials said.

The United States' demands on the Cantonese were brief. They demanded punishment for the officers and troops responsible, apologies in writing, guarantees for foreigners in the future, and complete reparation for personal injuries and material damage done. The demand concluded with a threat to take "such measures as they consider appropriate" in the event of refusal to comply.

The Cantonese replied that they are willing to pay for the damage to American consulate as having occurred in territory under their control. They expressed a willingness to make reparations for personal injury or damage where it could be "definitely proven" that Cantonese troops were responsible.

Inquiry Made
In reference to the demand for punishment of troops, the Canton-

Sacco, Vanzetti Sentenced

(The Pacific & Atlantic)

Sacco and Vanzetti sentenced to die!—Defiant to the last, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti yesterday were sentenced at Dedham, Mass., before Judge Webster Thayer to die during week of July 19 for the so-called Braintree train robbery of seven years ago. Judge Thayer is shown leaving court after passing sentence.

He said that a rigid inquiry is fervently hoped that she will find now being conducted to fix responsibility. Today suggested that a joint commission of Americans and Chinese complete this investigation. The same commission would also investigate the bombardment by American warships of the "unfortified city of Nanking" under the Chen proposal.

In the event that the joint commission proposed hold that the Cantonese are responsible apologies will be immediately forthcoming, it was stated.

Nationalist Protection
Chen declared that instruction has been issued to all Nationalist officers to afford adequate protection to foreigners. He concluded, however, with the suggestion that the best way foreigners could hope to secure such protection would be to surrender of unequal treaties and concessions, which he declares to be the fundamental cause of the anti-foreign feeling. He added that he would be glad to name commissioners to negotiate with the United States the "modernizing of international intercourse" between the two countries.

Reply Unsatisfactory
The Chen reply was regarded as being unsatisfactory because the United States claimed in its demand to have already investigated the Nanking outrages and found that Cantonese troops in uniform were responsible. In view of this, it was held that Chen has rejected the American demands in toto.

However, it was pointed out, that the tone of the reply was conciliatory and might offer a way to proceed further without taking the "appropriate measures" as threatened.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—China's proposal for creation of an international commission to investigate alleged outrages upon American citizens, the bombing of Nanking by foreign warships and abrogation of the unequal treaties will be rejected by President Coolidge, it was believed here tonight.

Although in a tolerant mood toward China, the president is understood to feel that any move for arbitration while civil war rages would be futile.

No Arbitration
President Coolidge is determined to back his military chiefs in China to the limit. He accepts their reports that indignities were committed by Nationalist soldiers in uniform and that the shelling of Nanking in concert with the British was necessary to save American lives.

Appreciating that mob violence attends all wars of the Chinese magnitude, the president, it is believed, will withhold immediate answer to Eugene Chen's proposals in the hope that tranquility and good order will take the place of turmoil in the war-torn country.

Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio declared, after a conference with the president today, that the country approves his sympathetic attitude toward China and he gave what were regarded as very intimate observations of what will be the Coolidge policy in the future. Senator Fess said:

Coolidge Sympathetic
"Wherever the people know the nature of the unequal treaties which diminish China's sovereignty over her domestic affairs, they

'LOVE' KILLER ADMITS GUILT ON GALLOWS

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, April 15.—Loving God, but not fearing him, John Walton Winn was hanged today for the murder of Albert Nussbaum.

Before the quick steps of the death march began through the long, dark corridors of the Cook county jail, Winn confessed his crime.

"I can't go to the gallows with a lie on my lips," he said, "I have blamed many people for this murder, but I did it. I hope God will forgive me, and I feel that he will."

The death warrant was read at 7:03. Then began the march to the jail yard. All of the prisoners had been removed to another part of the jail so they would not see the doomed man as he took his last step.

Winn, a little, weakened, gray haired man, looked even smaller than he is, as he marched behind the towering figures of Sheriff Charles E. Graydon and Warder Fogarty.

It took sixty seconds to strap his hands and his legs, adjust the hood and the noose, and at 7:47, the trap was sprung. There was no noise, or clang. Winn was pronounced dead at 7:59. The law had been served.

The body was held until 10 o'clock, when Judge William Lindsay, chief justice of the criminal court, opened his court. The signed statement by Winn, in which he gave to Dr. J. J. Hulbert his brain for examination was presented to the court, and his body was ordered taken to the doctor.

His brain may give some new light on behaviorism, the scientists believe.

Almost his last earthly act, was to write Mrs. Eliza "Grandma" Nussbaum, wife of the murdered man a letter. She is now serving a life term in Joliet prison for her part in the killing. She and Winn were sweethearts.

Winn told his court appointed attorney that he bore no malice in his heart to any one. He said he forgave everything.

"It is the way of the poor man," he said, "I had been wealthy, I wouldn't even have been arrested."

SELBY WORKER IS KILLED BY ESPEE TRAIN

Caterino Cresco, employee of the Selby Smelter works, was caught between the wheels of the Southern Pacific Portland limited near the Vallejo junction this morning, according to information by Coroner Aubrey Wilson.

It is believed that the man was walking on the tracks and became confused as to which track the flying passenger was traveling. The train crew was unaware of an accident and the train continued on its journey. The body was found several hours later and from its condition it is thought that death came instantly.

Cresco leaves his wife in Mexico and a son and a brother in Crockett. The body is at the Brunser and Connelly parlors in Martinez.

Local Sport Notes

Decision to confine its activities to the Richmond City league, the Pullman baseball club has abandoned Sunday ball for the summer, it was announced yesterday by Manager Paul Huston.

The Pullman tossers showed their hitting power last Sunday when they plastered a 32 to 12 beating on the Oakland carmen in a game at San Pablo park, Berkeley, and should cause plenty of trouble for city league moundmen.

The Pullmanites are already outfitted with one of the strongest batteries of the league in Dick Bliss, Frank Nemith and Roy Huston.

Huston is laying plans for a shop league to be participated in by the various departments. The games will be played during the evenings, and will commence some time next month.

When Eddie Rose, outfielder for the Mission Bells, drove a home run over the right field fence to defeat the San Francisco Seals last week, he duplicated a feat that he performed here several seasons ago while with Paul Huston's championship City league team.

Rose, coming up in the last inning with two out and the Schneller's leading by one run, batted the ball far over the right field wall to tie the score.

In the play-off the following week the Pullman tossers defeated the Speed Martin, Coast leaguer, and his supporting cast, for the championship.

Rose has been hitting the ball well this season and appears to have clinched a regular position with the Missions.

The crack bowling team of the Richmond lodge of Elks will participate in the Bay Cities Elks Bowling league, which will swing into action next month. Teams from San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, San Jose and Richmond will participate in the play.

The local Elks have always made an impressive showing in the Elks' championships.

Al Kite, referee of the Richmond City Basketball league games during the past winter, has signed to play with the Concord club of the Three-C league.

Kite, a former University of California baseball and basketball star, is one of the classiest first sackers in high circles.

Jimmy McNamara, former American league southpaw, is planning a comeback this season with the Martinez club of the Three-C league. McNamara was with the Philadelphia Athletics several seasons ago, but injured his pitching arm and was forced to retire from the game. In his few work-outs at Martinez, where he is now in business, McNamara has discovered that his arm has apparently recovered from the injury.

Leo A. Viano, Atascadero sportsman, who is visiting relatives here, made a good catch Wednesday when he took four striped bass from the bay near Redwood. He formerly resided in this city but is now instructor in agriculture at Atascadero high school.

Phil Jones, manager of the Richmond Sannies, is reported to be considering a comeback on the mound. The Sannies' pitcher was a crack pitcher at one time, but has been away from active participation in the game for a number of years.

LEARD FIRED AS MANAGER OF MISSIONS

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—Manager "Wild Bill" Leard of the Mission baseball club was dismissed by President William H. McCarthy in Seattle today according to a message received late this afternoon by Secretary Ferguson.

The message said Leard had been dropped for "conduct prejudicial to the best interests of the club and for breaking training rules."

Leard was named manager of the club last year replacing Walter Schmidt and coming to the coast league from Idaho circuit.

The message stated Al Walters, catcher, had temporarily been placed in charge of the club.

CRIME WAVE IS DEPLOYED BY C. M. SCHWAB

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, April 15.—Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, today deplored the general disrespect for laws which "failure to enforce prohibition" has engendered. He also urged farm relief measures of some sort.

He and Mrs. Schwab were on their way to New York in their private car after a month's vacation on the Pacific coast.

The chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel company, probably the largest steel plant in the world, also predicted a day when war would cease because of the increased intelligence of all people.

"Business conditions throughout the country seem to be improving generally," he said, "although in agricultural fields there is no doubt that the farmers should be protected with some sort of relief measures."

"As for prohibition, I think that the only thing decently left to do is to refer the whole question back to the people of the United States in a referendum. People will eventually find some way of putting agriculture back on a sound basis."

Schwab said that people along the west coast seem less interested in the Chinese disturbances than are the people in the east.

He also regretted the failure of the Boulder dam project to reach an agreement and said this was the real cause of the failure of the bill for the project in the last congress.

"In the final analysis, this project like our waterways and other public developments are for the benefit of all," he added.

"As to war and its effect on business, I will say that the time is coming when there will be no more wars, simply because the world will have become too intelligent to fight them. The very thought of war is abhorrent to me. Even as the head of the largest ordnance producing industry in the world, I would rather see that vast industry sunk to the bottom of the ocean than have my country involved in war again."

Pocket Torch Saves Hunter Gripped in Drifting Ice Floes

A WAY off in the darkness a mile from the ice-encrusted shore of Middle Neck Bay, which is a small arm of Long Island Sound, a tiny light winked at regular intervals. Patrolman Worth, of the Flushing Police Precinct, making his last round on a bitterly cold night, was trying to decide just what it was. He couldn't recall having seen a flashing light at that point on previous nights.

As the policeman watched, the light seemed to be receding slowly into the distance. Then there was a momentary shift of the wind and from the direction of the curious little light there came to the officer's ears a very faint halloo.

Hurrying to the nearest telephone, Patrolman Worth telephoned his station and two other patrolmen, Goddard and Schudell, responded to his call. The three men hurriedly procured a row boat and launched it among the wind-driven ice-floes of the bay. Through the dangerous ice they poled an until their frail little rowboat was within about a hundred yards of the flashing light. Then they encountered an ice jam that they could not penetrate. One of the policemen shouted and from the direction of the light a feeble voice called: "Hurry—I can't stand it much longer."

Desperately the three patrolmen fought to break a path through the ice, but their best efforts were futile. Finally, they were forced to turn back to shore, commanding a high-powered motorboat and smash their way through the ice-pack. The little light that had guided them ceased to flash as they crashed through the last few yards of the pack. Then the officer in the bow of the motorboat saw a small duck-boat held fast in the ice. When they reached the imprisoned boat, the rescuers found Gus Abitz, a duck hunter, numb with the cold and partly able to talk.

In his hand Abitz held a small pocket flashlight which he had used to signal for help.

Back at the Flushing police station, after Abitz had been revived by stimulants and warm blankets, the hunter told his story. He had been shooting ducks all afternoon. Darkness descended before he discovered that drifting ice had surrounded his little boat. He tried to row ashore, but found that he could not force his way through the ice. The ice packed around his boat and Abitz noticed that the ice was drifting seaward, taking his boat with it. He could see no one within hailing distance. After drifting for several hours, he made out lights along the shore, which later proved to be those of Bayview and Flushing. He stood up in his boat and shouted at the top of his voice, but no answer came.

Then he remembered that he had a little electric flashlight stowed away in his shooting duffle. He found it and began flashing the light in the direction of the shore. He had been thus signalling for help for more than an hour when Patrolman Worth first saw the light.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Hundreds of tents are being sent to flood victims driven from their homes by rising waters in the Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky and nearby districts, American Red Cross headquarters announced today.

Telegraphic pleas for tents and other aid poured in all day, it was announced. The Red Cross wired the commanding officer at Fort Hayes, Ohio, asking that 30 tents be sent at once to Columbus, where the levees broke yesterday.

Seventy were sent to Cairo, Ill., where conditions were reported "alarmingly acute." Two hundred have been sent to Natchez and 200 more will soon be on the way.

Red Cross workers were ordered to Hickman and Barlow, Ky., the former place reporting 1000 refugees in need of food and clothing.

A special committee headed by Mayor J. N. Lockley, Rock Springs, Texas, has asked the Red Cross to take complete charge of rehabilitation work among victims of the tornado. The first step will be to complete survey of the needs of each family, headquarters said.

Reports from up river points were most discouraging. Rain had fallen in the north during the last 24 hours. Seven inches of rain fell in the region of Memphis. The Mississippi has reached a stage of 22½ feet and continues to rise slowly. It is expected to go up at least another foot. This will send water to the very tops of some of the most important levees. Heroic efforts are being made to strengthen the weakened places in them.

A fleet of government steamboats and barges, with hundreds of laborers are being employed in levee building.

Convicts have been put to work on the revetments and dikes will be impressed as the danger increases.

No loss of life had been reported up to tonight and it was expected all refugees would reach places of safety. Many refugees will be cared for in Memphis until the flood recedes and they can return to their homes in the Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee bottoms. Refugees able to work will be given employment with

FIGHT PURSE HELD UP FOR THREE YEARS

(By Universal Service)

NEW HAVEN, April 15.—Three years of waiting, persistent court action and a bill introduced into the Connecticut legislature finally brought a boxer a $2,000 purse held up from a bout held here August 23, 1923.

Pal Moran, of New Orleans, fought Kid Kaplan, at Wechs park in this city three years ago. The boxing commission held up Moran's part of the proceeds, claiming that he did not try to fight. Senator Groton introduced a bill in the legislature demanding that Moran be paid in full.

The bill was favorably reported in the house of representatives today and passed. Moran claimed that he had been so harassed by law suits the night of the fight, that he was kept busy settling and did not have time to give his best efforts.

Heart Trouble Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home and that night she had the first rest after years of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that time she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

Owes Her Life to Fong Wan Herbs

Stockton, Calif., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble at the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, which were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live. I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co. and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks, and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

DO YOU KNOW WHY --- Americans Persist in Celebrating So Many Days?

Drawn for this paper By Fisher

OPPOSITION TO ADVENTURER BRIDGE BILL OVERCOME

The state senate has defeated a motion by Senator Arthur Breed of Piedmont to reconsider a bill to grant the American Toll Bridge company a 25-year extension to its franchises for the Carquinez and Antioch toll bridges. The motion was defeated by a vote of 23 to 13. The vote followed a debate that lasted for several hours.

Under the bill the Contra Costa board of supervisors are empowered to grant the extended franchise upon proper application by the toll-bridge company. The bridges are now being erected and operated under a 25-year franchise granted in 1923. It was pointed out that 25 years was too short a time for the company to pay its indebtedness, and pay interest on the investment. Since the 25-year franchise was granted, the law has been changed to permit 50-year franchises. Carquinez and Antioch bridges are the only large structures to be erected under the old law.

An immediate reduction in fares charged by the bridge company is promised as a result of the extended franchise.

The bill must be signed and adopted by the Assembly and signed by the governor.

ARRIVES IN ABYSSINIA

(By Universal Service)
ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, April 14.—Gordon MacCreagh, head of an Abyssinian expedition, fostered by Adventure Magazine, accompanied by Mrs. MacCreagh and Earl Rossman, official movie photographer of the expedition, has arrived here after a considerable delay in Ejiabou French Somali-land.

The MacCreagh party was received in audience by Ras Tafari Makonnen, prince regent of Abyssinia, who officially sanctioned the expedition and promised his assistance.

The prince, who will some day assume the title of "king of kings, the conquering lion of Judah, the elect of God, and emperor of Ethiopia," received the party at his palace.

According to MacCreagh, the ruler evinced great interest in President Coolidge and in America's foreign policies. He showed complete understanding of the latest achievements in science, including the trans-Atlantic telephone, television, radio and aerodynamics, and expressed his admiration for American progress.

MacCreagh said that he was impressed with the splendor of the palace. Magnificent pictures adorn the walls and rugs of the finest and rarest quality cover the floors. The furniture is richly inlaid and beautifully carved, said MacCreagh.

The American explorer will try to prove the legend that the Ark of the Covenant is hidden in a mountain temple near the headwaters of the Tokesse river. He will collect scientific data on the various forms of life in Abyssinia, and also on the temples hewn from cliffs, and believed to go back to 700 B.C.

Chamber Of Commerce Plans For Observance Of Three Big Events

Richmond is preparing to observe three important events, American Forest week, April 24-30, inclusive; National Music week, May 1-7, inclusive; and Memorial day, May 30.

The civic affairs committee of the Richmond chamber of commerce has undertaken to take the leadership in arousing interest in these events and has laid out plans to this end. C. C. Kratzer is chairman of the committee.

American Forest week, being the first event of importance, the efforts of the committee will be devoted to securing the co-operation of the service clubs, the merchants, the schools, in putting across the message of forest preservation, elimination of disastrous forest fires caused for the most part by carelessness on the part of campers and sportsmen.

Because the legionnaires are intensely interested in American Forest week, the Richmond post, American Legion, is taking a leading part in the plans outlined by the civic affairs committee of the chamber of commerce. W. C. Dobler, past commander of Richmond post, American Legion, is a member of the civic affairs committee. Dobler has already arranged as a special feature of the observance of American Forest week for the presentation of a splendid illustrated talk by a member of the forestry department at Memorial hall, Friday evening, April 29. The talk will be open to the public and is declared to be the most comprehensive and interesting story of American forests ever gotten together.

Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms will be asked to set aside one period in each of the schools for a talk by the teacher on the significance of American Forest week while speakers are being secured to appear before the various service clubs during American Forest week.

Observance of National Music week will be featured with a great open air musical program and community singing during the latter part of Music week, May 1-7. The Mendelssohn club, Mrs. James A. McVittie, president, and the Richmond club, Mrs. S. B. Wilson, president, will be asked to co-operate in arranging Music week program.

The schools also will be asked to co-operate with the chamber of commerce in making Music week an outstanding feature of the year.

That Memorial day will receive the greatest support and attract greater interest among Richmond folks than ever before, is the belief of the civic affairs committee, which is making elaborate plans of interesting every club, every church, every society, every fraternal order and every citizen in this event.

Richmond citizenry will be asked to march behind the two surviving Grand Army veterans in Richmond—George Herriek and Peyton Gardner—in the big street parade on the morning of May 30.

As last year the services at Sunset cemetery will be conducted jointly by Berkeley and Richmond Memorial day committees, assisted by the various vet-

NEW BUILDING TO BE ERECTED IN RICHMOND

Drs. J. B. and Clara Spalding will award the contract for the construction of a combination store, office and apartment building on the east side of Eighth street, just north of Macdonald avenue, within a week. It was announced yesterday by Raymond F. DeSanno, local architect.

DeSanno has completed the blueprints and they are now on exhibition at this office in the Miller building at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue. Two store locations will face on Eighth street, and between them will be the main entrance to the apartments above. A wide driveway is being arranged for the side of the building and off this will be entrances to the doctor's suite of five offices and a reception room.

The Spalding residential apartments will be above their offices in the three-story unit at the rear of the structure. At the end of the driveway will be the garages, wash racks, etc. On the second floor will be four two-room apartments and the Spalding kitchen, dining room and living room. In the third floor will be the bedrooms.

The buildings will be frame brick and plaster construction, with modern attractive architecture.

There will be a steam heating plant in the basement, special refrigerators for each compartment and all other conveniences to facilitate housekeeping.

ENGLAND MEETS EASTER GLADLY

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, April 15.—England today put all her troubles on the shelf and entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of the Easter holidays.

Unemployment, trade difficulties, budget arguments and the Chinese situation were left by the wayside, as thousands of merry makers sought peace and pleasure at the English and continental resorts.

The Victoria and Waterloo depots were the scenes of a tremendous Easter rush, hundreds of thousands of persons departing from, and entering, these stations. Automobile traffic filled all the suburban and country roads, and cross-channel aeroplanes carried capacity loads. Steamers crossing the channel were filled with holiday crowds.

Nearly half a million persons visited Brighton and Hove today. Southend, often described as the "Coney Island" of England, catered to another half a million persons, mostly Londoners.

According to a statistical report, furnished by a genius in this direction, more than 150,000,000 hot cross buns, accompanied by no less than 300,000,000 cups of tea, refreshed the Easter crowds.

EASTER MARKED BY ROTARIANS

The Richmond Rotary club yesterday observed Easter Sunday in a meeting marked by addresses of Rev. Frank Woten, pastor of the First Christian church, and Ford Samuels, Oakland photographer.

Speaking on the topic of the Resurrection, Rev. Woten declared:

"The resurrection in my opinion was the greatest event in the world. One of the greatest proofs of the immortality of the soul is in the fact that in every land and in every clime, amongst all people, Christian, pagan, Mohammedan, savage, Buddhist, Jewish and in the outposts of the world, is the universal feeling in the hearts of all men of a hereafter. It could only be there because Jehovah put it there."

Samuels stated that the Golden Rule in business—"Do unto others as ye would have them do unto you"—could be summed up in one word—"service."

The patronage of the Rotarians was asked by Mrs. James A. McVittie, president of the Mendelssohn club, to the opera, to be presented by the club in Roosevelt auditorium next Friday evening. The funds derived from the opera will be applied toward the two scholarships maintained by the club. Mrs. Ross Caffee rendered a beautiful lullaby song.

Local Men Freed After Car Crash

El Cerrito authorities yesterday freed S. J. Krause and J. A. Hersey, both of Richmond, arrested Thursday as the result of an automobile accident, said to have occurred from Krause's carelessness. Krause promised to pay all damages, which were incurred when driving north on San Pablo, when he crashed into the rear of a machine driven by P. Hernandez of Torrey. Losing control of his car Krause crashed into a tree on the other side of the street, authorities declared.

Hersey was the only one hurt in the crash. He was slightly cut about the forehead by flying glass.
